WALT- Use commas accurately in sentences

She had found it lying alone, deserted, abandoned in the attic. After making the discovery, Anna had gazed and marvelled at it for some time. Where had it come from? Why had no dust settled upon it, as it had done over everything else that resided in her attic? A layer of the thick dust blanketed the attic floor, and as the sunlight glared through the attic windows, the dust particles yet to settle were illuminated as they hovered in the stuffy air. Yet, the mirror looked flawless, untouched by age, not a finger print in sight.

Anna propped the mirror up against one of the thick, timber beams that jutted from the attic floor. Settling down into a comfortable position, she tentatively placed a finger against the glass...

For your writing task this week, I would like you to write the next paragraph of this story. What happens next as Anna places her finger against the mirror? Is she transported to another dimension? Or, is something from another world released? Let your imaginations flow! I would like you to focus on accurately getting some commas into your writing. Remember, this can be in the form of a list or before a fronted adverbial to name a few ways.

Please make sure your paragraph is handwritten.
